Making a great city greater

MK Futures 2050 – What makes a great city?

MK Futures 2050 Commission continues to explore the potential long-term futures for Milton Keynes as it continues to grow as a place and economy of increasing significance.

Its public engagement programme has commenced and the activity to date has already stimulated a wide range of viewpoints and discussions about the future of Milton Keynes. We have been focussing our attention on getting feedback from a wide range of stakeholders and members of the public on their thoughts of what makes a great city, what is great about Milton Keynes, and what could make Milton Keynes greater.

As a Parish Council, we value your involvement in thinking about these questions, and the Commission would like your input on defining the possible issues facing a growing urban city and how this could impact on the quality of resident's lives in your area.

For urban parishes, you might want to share your thoughts on how your area could contribute to a great future for Milton Keynes. For rural parishes, the Commission would like your thoughts on how the city can be a good neighbour, and how the rural hinterland plays a role in the success of Milton Keynes.

As part of our engagement with Parishes, the MK Futures Executive Team will be at the next Parishes Forum on 24th March where we look forward to your involvement. You can also feedback any comments beforehand by visiting our new website www.MKFutures2050.com or by emailing us at MKFutures@milton-keynes.gov.uk.
